NEWPORT

New laparoscopic theatre at Nucleus

No longer will patients in need of laparoscopic surgery have to have their procedures carried out at NHS hospitals as a state-of-the-art laparoscopic theatre is in the process of being built at Nucleus Healthcare in Newport.

The theatre, which is due to be completed this November, has been meticulously designed and planned with patients needs in mind, offering uncompromising care for patients. The hospital will be able to provide day care and overnight stays for patients and will also be extending its bariatric services to include the popular gastric band procedure. Nucleus will provide a unique service within the field of Gastroenterology with specialist doctors, surgeons and nurses with an unparalleled expertise in this area.
